

Our statement concerning COVID-19

Updated 10 June 2020

The COVID-19 pandemic has been unprecedented in the severe disruption caused in the UK and world-wide.

We remain fully committed to supporting our clients at this time and our teams are available to assist you using the telephone numbers below. Please speak with our reception teams regarding any new enquiries or existing matters and they will direct you to one of our colleagues.

In light of the recent Government announcements and recommendations, our teams continue to work from home where this is possible. For those members of our staff team who are working in our offices, we have taken steps to ensure their continued safety. This firm is committed to having Covid-19 secure workplaces in accordance with the recent Government guidance.

Our offices have limited opening for pre-booked appointments and the dropping-off of documentation only. We would ask that clients do not make personal visits to our offices unless matters cannot be dealt with via telephone, e-mail or other means. We are working hard to keep the disruption to all clients to a minimum.

We would ask that correspondence and documentation is sent to us electronically so that we are able to deal with your matter remotely if necessary. Otherwise, documents and paperwork can be hand-delivered through our letterboxes which will be attended at least once during each working day.
